The high art of precision

Kusser's Expertise in Granite Artworks: Kusser Graniteworks has a strong reputation for handling complex and large-scale granite projects for artists and art installations. We emphasize our ability to work with artists to realize their visions and have developed specialized techniques for precision work, even with immense granite objects.

Angels Unawares - Timothy Schmalz - 2024

Zwischen Sonnentor und Mondplat - Hannsjörg Voth - 1993

Howard County Veterans and Military Families Monument - Larry Kirkland & John Grant (rendering by Mowry Studio) - 2025

Granitskulptur Mainz - Reiner Mährlein

For over 100 years, Kusser has turned the world's finest stone—anchored by timeless Bavarian granite—into iconic water features and public art that captivate for generations. Our master craftsmen and engineers partner with visionary artists, architects, and designers to transform bold ideas into precision-built works where art, engineering, and nature flow together seamlessly.

The James Museum Animated Water Wall - St. Petersburg, Florida - Yann Weymouth - 2018

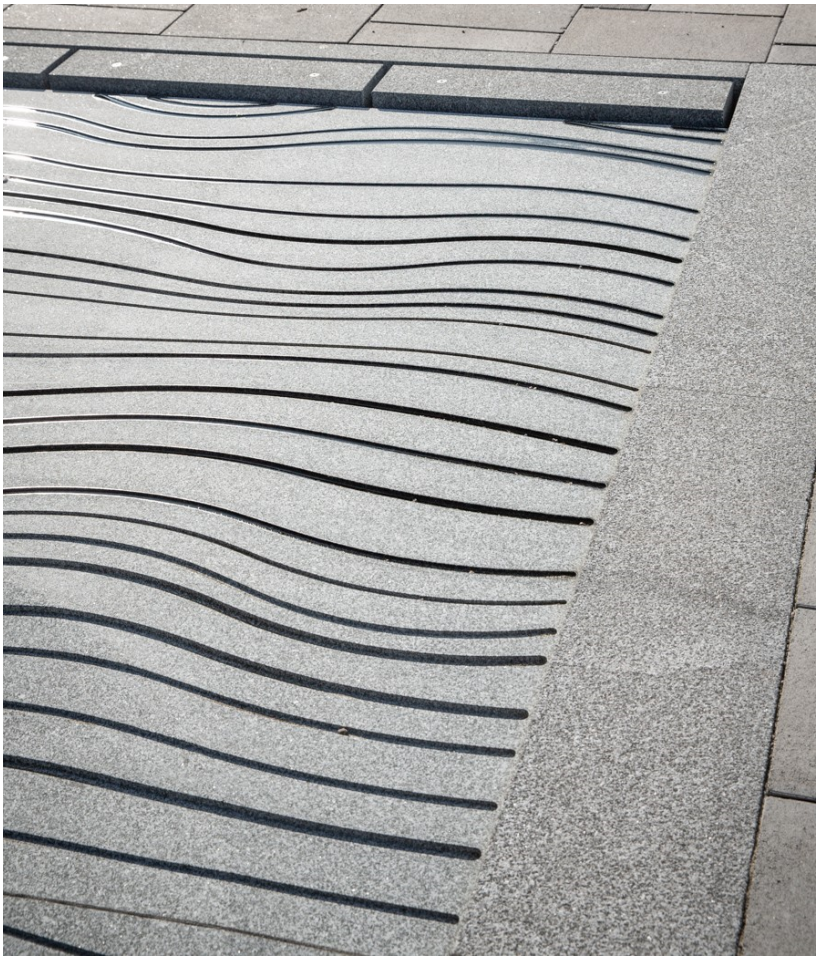

tremolo 79 Hz - Jochen Kitzbihler - 2004

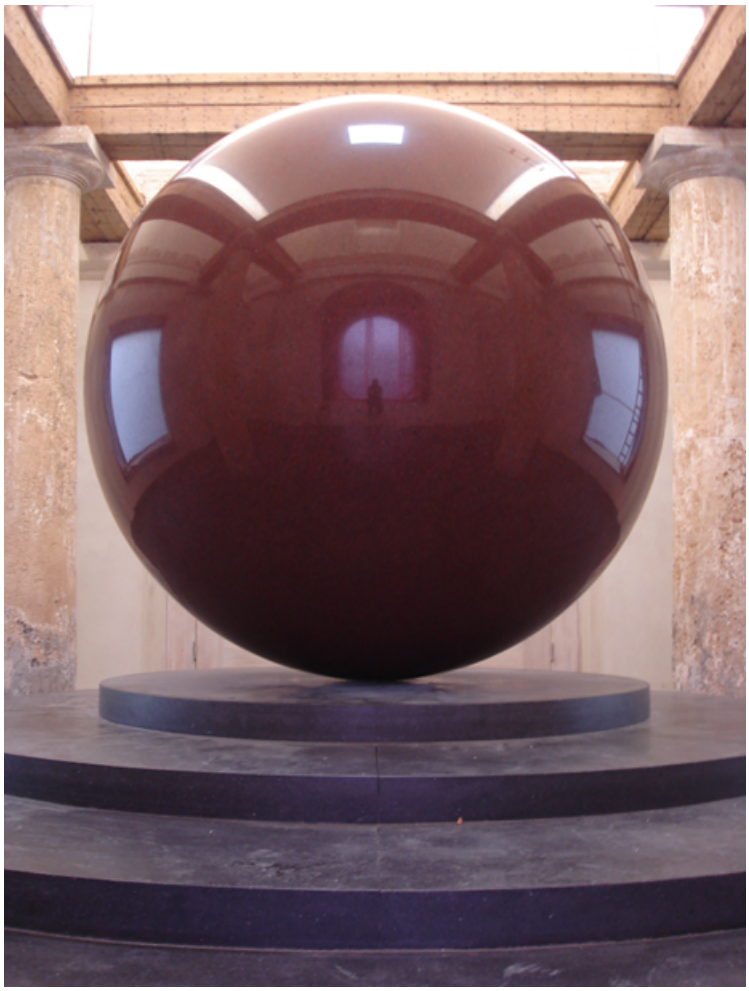

Works of art made of granite

Our challenge: break away from the norm. The implementation of many art, art-in-architecture and land art projects often involves the development of an innovation or a new processing method. Kusser leads the way.

- Granite is imperishable
- Precise processing even for large objects
- Specialist planners check the technical feasibility
- Prestressed granite to defy gravity
- Successful collaboration with artists for over 25 years

Hauptplatz Amstetten - Kurt Hoerbst - 2024

Walter De Maria - Türkentor, München - 2000

Lichtblicke Waldkirchen - Barbara Rainer and Bernhard Dingler - 2007

Syzygy - Mat Chivers - 2001
